

Professor Dr. Cezar SCARLAT

Professor within Department of Entrepreneurship & Management and PhD Supervisor at the Doctoral School of Entrepreneurship, Business Engineering & Management – FAIMA from University “Politehnica” of Bucharest (UPB). His subject portfolio includes courses as: Technology Entrepreneurship, Project Management, Business development & strategy, Marketing as well as related courses at universities in Romania and abroad (Finland, Portugal, Belgium) – as visiting/exchange professor.

Director of the Center for Business Excellence from UPB for almost two decades; former Deputy Dean and also Director of the FAIMA Doctoral School along a decade.

Running private consulting firm, built business management capability and acquired project management experience by participation in over forty international programmes or projects funded by various global donors (EU, World Bank, IBRD, USAID, British Know How Fund, GTZ and alike).

Master degrees in Engineering in electronics & telecommunication from UPB, and International business from Academy for Economic Studies from Bucharest; PhD degree in management and industrial engineering at UPB. International exposure and experience by post-graduate studies in Romania and abroad (USA, Canada, France, Italy); research and study tours in Europe and North America.

Publications: forty books, manuals or book chapters; about two hundred articles and scientific reports on technology entrepreneurship, entrepreneurial education, business development and strategy, management and administration, project management, marketing, and related areas of interest.

Membership in international bodies as well as member of scientific/editorial boards of several international journals – among them: Industrial Management & Data Systems (IMDS); Expert Systems with Applications (ESWA); Advances in Business Related Scientific Research Journal (ABSRJ).